

2008 Women's Retreat
The Sacredness of the Earth and Women's Role in Healing and Restoring Balance

Saturday, May 31 and Sunday, June 1
Potowatami Inn ~ Pokagon State Park, Angola, Indiana

Women members and friends of the congregation are invited to join us for the annual UU Women's Retreat. Again this year we will be gathering at Pokagon State Park, as all the ladies who attended last year were very happy with the accommodations. We have reserved a meeting room, as well as a block of 11 double occupancy overnight rooms at the Potowatami Inn.

Due to the close proximity, we are able to offer several options for the weekend: Retreat Weekend (with lodging) - $135; Retreat Weekend (without lodging) - $90; Saturday only - $65.

Retreat fees cover food, facility rental, and programming. Overnight rooms are on a first come basis and, with only 22 (double occupancy) spots available, you'll need to register soon! The weekend is comprised of both group and individual activities such as reflection and journaling; simple crafts; tai chi/yoga; shared meals; and Sunday service. Saturday is more structured, beginning at 8:30 and ending at 9 PM. Sunday we plan to have a simple worship service, brunch, free time, and 2009 planning. On both days, you will have free time for nature hikes, bird watching, swimming, etc.

We hope you can share this experience with other women of the UU.
